Bingham Oil Compony's No. 3, on the Ike Jones place, which flowed 160 feet above the casing, caught be turned into the tank. Dan Jackson, the contractor, completed the repairs to his machine and will now move to No. 2 to drill this well to the second pay. One tank has been filled and others are under construction to take care of the production.

Ken-Flo Oil Company will shoot No. 1 on the L. G. Morris tract this week the nitro-glycerine now being en-route from the Lee County field. Appointed To War Risk Insurance Wymand Oil Company's No. 1 on the Susan Jackson lease showed a capacity of 11 barrels. The second test is well under way.

Mutual Oil and Gas Company on Big Richland Creek is shut down for casing in its initial test on the Millard lease. Should a paying well be found here it will mean quite an extension of the Ike Jones pool on Little Richland, lying about a mile and a half east.

The Associated Producers Oil Co. has made several locations for deep tests on Stinking Creek.

R. W. Edgett's No. 1, on the Tom McDonald farm is down 165 feet.

Development will soon start on the Spence Foley farm, Indian Creek under lease to J. A. McDermott. Atlanta parties will be interested in this operation.

> The Wymond Oil Company has installed a new gas engine.

R. L. Hyman and associates of Atlanta, Ga., who are interested in some properties on Indian Creek will arrive Friday to develop the same.

SOL T. STEELE Bureau

Sol-T. Steele, than whom there is no more popular genileman in Barbourville, has been appointed to an important position in the legal department of the War Risk Insurance Bureau at Washington. We congrat ulate Mr. Steele on his appointment and know that he will make a success of his new work.

CARNES BOY IMPROVING

The eight year old son of John D. Carnes who recently shot himself with a 41 revolver is improving niecly. The boy was playing with the gun which went off, the bullet passing downward thru the thigh, striking the leg and imbedding itself in the ankle where it still remains. Dr. F. R. Burton will remove the bullet later.

What will Knox County Do for Her Distinguished Citizen?

In the Henry County Local, July 4th. in the center of the first page we find these statements. "If the people of Henry County could realize the distinction it would bring us to furnish the Governor of Kentucky they would, SIDE TRACK POLITICS, AND ALLOW COUNTY PRIDE TO CONTROL THEM AND GIVE JUDGE CARROLL THEIR UNITED AND ENTHUSIASTIC SUPPORT. Everybody meet next Monday in New Castle and let us show the people of Kentucky that John D. Carroll's home folks are solidly behind him' '.

Has Henry County more pride than Knox County? Will we let Henry County do more to show Kentucky what it will do for her citizen, than the citizens of Knox County will do to bring distinction to their home County? Shall She had brown feathers and looked Henry County put Politics aside and allow County Pride to control them, and take from Knox County the distinction of furnishing the Governor of Kentucky? No! Knox County is as good as Henry County and better and we will show Henry county that we will stand with our citizen like red-blooded citizens, that we are, to support our citizen, Gov. James D. Black, on Saturday, August 2nd. man to man and bring the honor to Knox County of furnishing the Governor of Rentucky.

FEMALE INJURED SUNDAY

* As the L. & N. No. 23 pulled into Ralston Sunday a female became confused on the track and was thrown off by the train. She was picked up apparently unconcious and carried up town. Many questions were hurled out of the window but as the train did not delay its departure it was not possible to learn to what family she belonged. Whether suit for damages against the L. & N. has been instituted we have not learned, but it is felt the engineer was not to blame since the hen had no business on the track. as tho she might, in life, have been a mother and a good layer.

LIEUTENANT SCENT HOME

Lieutenant Edward W. Scent arrived home Monday morning after two years service in the 113th Supply Train, 38th Division, U. S. Army. He was first at Camp Shelby, Miss, rom there he went to where he did convoy instruction work at Buffalo and Baltimore. He crossed the seas October 1st and while his party had a fight with a sub, he did not see the underseas pirate. Landing at Liverpool, he went to Southhampton

Lieut. Scent's duties were convoying trucks to the Army of Occupation from base ports and furnishing transportation to troops returning to the States. He put in eight months service following the armistice and left Bordeaux for home June 19th, arriving at New York June 30th.

Mr. Scent saw the devasted district around Verdun which was very bad. He has brought home a number of pictures as a memento of his

MORE ABOUT BLACK LEG

J. S. Patterson, of Highland Park, who has lost three cattle this week from black leg, while John H. Burgess lost one., states that Dr. Wigginton, of Harlan County, is of the opinion the disease is carried by a fly, also dogs, birds or any other stock. The egg is carried by these various agencies and developes in the shoulder and bowels. Once the disease gets a hold there is no show for it, but prevention by vaccination

All stock that dies should be burned so that the disease may not be carried to well stock.

There is a possibility that a long ledge and belief legged fly known as the Oklahoma wheat fly may be a carrier. This fly is about the size of a house fly and has long legs. Whether this is so or not, the real remedy or prevention is to vaccinate.

Street paving is now proceeding on Knox street which will soon be included in the list of macadamized streets.

JUST FOLKS -

EDITORS

There are editors and editors. There is The Editor and others. The Editor is alright. Knowing him self as others know him not, knowing his many brilliant talents, his virtues, vivacity, scintillating wit, charm of manner, easy grace, his racy, facile style and general editorial powers, The Editor is prepared to swear on a stack of Webster's unabridged dictionaries, that he is the most important man in the community to himself. Indeed, knowing himself to be what he is and looking abroad over the whole community, scanning other men who might have been editors had they been keen enough and who are now bitterly jealous of The Editor on account of the many graces, virtues and talents aforementioned, The Editor, looking on or scanning other men, scanning them, indeed, commiseratingly, is of the opinion that they are foolish to give away to envy.

Years ago The Editor had no more idea than had they that he was destined to be a bright light hidden under a bushel in the journalistic ranks, - but Fate, that great, big factor, took the then little boy, carefully stuffed his mind with pearls of wisdom and finally when he was sufficently like an oyster, opened him up and showed him off to an admiring world.

Modesty forbids The Editor to boast, far be it indeed from him to point out his fine qualities, he would rather the public should enjoy them and talk obout them to each other, than that he should do it himself. Wives, looking on The Editor, may sigh that husband is not more like like him: fathers may point him out to their sons as one they may emulate with profit, as one who has risen to his present proud eminence thru no fault of his own and The Editor will not be displeased. Not at all and they need fear no suit for libel. Truth will out doncherknow.

The reason men envy an editor is because he has such an easy, carefree life. Advertisers, especially the home merchants, fairly mob him with advertising. Business men prayerfully beg him to do their job work for them and the readers of the inspired newspaper over which he presides, insist that, if they are not permitted to subscribe and pay in advance, life will be one long. dreary thing after another.

And what the editor deigns to do in return for these people is laughably easy. He buys about $6000 to $8000 worth of metal and paper and then walks around town imbibing information as to the lives. habits, customs, etc. of his fellow men. These he dresses in their best clothes so to speak, and presents them to the view of the fellow men and women. The result is especially interesting to the women, who are great students of bipedery, male and

Then the Editor makes metal soup skims it and makes nifty little briquettes of it, sorts pi, occasionally. deigns to run a press. corrects proof mails out newspapers, soothes vexed people who have failed to get their copy, writes those uplift articles which are such a respected feature of the newspaper, writes advertisers, corrects addresses, does the immense banking business which enables the banks to show such large deposits in their quarterly statements and. with a few more playful duties, gets it all done in some ten hours a day.

Lack of space forbids us to touch on editors who are not The Editor and being a touchy family it is perhaps better so.

In conclusion, The Editor wishes to say he loves to give pleasure to people who are desirous of advertising the fact that they have something to sell. job work to be done or who yearn to pay their subscriptions. MAKING MONEY

Money is not made along the line of least resistance. The manufacand delivering his goods. The merchant who would rise to something great, must study buying, display and advertising. The teacher must keep abreast of the times; the town | Prof. Coates. One Year $1.50 and county must put down good streets and roads and look after sanitation, schools etc. The Church cannot afford to become a smug, holier than thou institution, repellent in a smug Pharaseeism, but must, if it would fulfill its mission. go out into the highways and hedges and compel people to come in and the farmer who would succeed must use, not only brawn and muscle, but also the brains with which Providence has endowed him. The ture is to stand some distance away and examine it in a good light. The breed of cattle, hogs, sheep, chickens, the kind of seed used, may not be important, but it is important what the quality may be.

It is also most important as to what is not only adaptable but also what will make the most money. Money is not an evil, merely an over love of it is evil. Hence it is every man's duty to make all the money he can by producing the things that will sell for the greatest amount of

One of our neglected industries is fruit growing. There is not a farmer, who by intelligent selection of trees, planted on the hillsides, and the protection of them during a few nights of spring, cannot double, treble or quadruple his income. The fact that the fruit is planted on the hill sides and the lack of wind in this section should make it easy to smudge against frost. The smoke would rise from below and form a protection against frost. Apples raised in Kentucky have been contracted for at $2.50 a bushel this year. Sit down and figure what ten acres of choice apples would bring you on this basis, Mr. Farmer, and compare it with what other hillside crops bring. Just think about it and plant out a few acres, spray, prune and protect the trees and your bank account will not know itself.

THE U. S. INFANTRY The Body of the Army! . The Branch to Which All Others are Auxillary and Subsidiary

The infantryman is the typical soldier. When anyone speaks in your hearing of a soldier your mind instantly pictures an infantryman. a "doughboy;" for remember it is the infantryman alone that the term 'doughboy" realy belongs and it is flux (dysentery.) I had another atdue to his being so truly the representative and type of what goes to make a soldier that it has become customary to apply to all members of our expeditionary the name that in the old regular army pertained only to the infantryman.

It is the infantryman who mans the trenches, it is he who boes over the top, it is he who comes into hand to hand conflict with the enemy.

The aviator observes for him, the cavalry patrols for him, the artillery clears his path; all prepare the way for the infantryman to take the first decisive action, to make the assault.

The life of the infantryman appeals alike to the soldier who wishes to re-enlist and to the young man who looks toward the army either as a career or as a stepping stone to something else. To the seasoned soldier it means the life to which is accustomed with more liesure than can be afforded him in the other branches, to the man who desires to enter the service permanently it offers as can no other branch, an opportunity to absorb soldierly instincts and the military habits of mental and physical accuracy and self control while allowing more time than do the other branches for study and the preparation towards obtaining an appointment to West Point, a commission direct from the ranks or in exercising some choice of occupation on his return to civil life.

FRESH FARM FACTS FOR KENTUCKY FARMERS

Boys Buy Bank Stock.

Marshall County has a banker who is very farsighted, especially when it comes to the cotizens of tomorrow. A recent report to the College of Agriculture contains the following:

"Had a good meeting of the boys around Birmingham Saturday afternoon. The banker there, Mr. M. L. Cox, who is financing the Sheep Club made the boys a proposition that struck me as far sighted. He is contemplating increasing the capital stock of the bank in order to give those boys so inclined an opportunity to become stock holders in his institution. He is doing it solely as a constructive business proposition for the boy and the bank. Club work has emphasized to him the im portance of the boy.

THACHER MEDICINE CO. Chattanooga, Tenn., U. S. A.

HOW

HOW TO OPERATE INCUBATOR

Machine Should Be Placed in Fairly Warm Room and Protected Against Outside Changes.

(Prepared by the United States Depart-ment of Agriculture.)
One difficulty in setting eggs as early in the spring as is necessary for early hatchers, if the natural system of incubation is followed, is in finding broody hens at the proper time. If natural incubation be depended upon exclusively the poultry raiser must wait until the hens are ready to set. This is not true, however, if an incubator is available, for if the eggs are fertile they can be started at any time the operator desires.

The incubator should be operated in a fairly warm room, preferably a cellar, as a protection against outside temperature changes. Sudden changes in temperature in the room are to be avoided. The machine should be disinfected thoroughly before being used with a solution of reliable coal tar disinfectant.

Instead of using such a solution a small receptacle containing one-half ounce of permanganate of potash on which one-half ounce of formalin has been poured may be shut up in the incubator. The resulting gas will thoroughly disinfect the machine. After disinfecting the incubator should be run empty for several days to get it into good operating condition. After the eggs are in place the temperature should be held at 1011/2 to 102 degrees Fahrenheit the first week, 102 to 103 degrees the second week, and 103 the third week.

The eggs usually are turned for the first time at the end of the second day, and twice daily through the eighteenth or nineteenth day. The eggs are cooled outside the hatching chamber once daily after the seventh and up to the nineteenth day. Moisture should be furnished in artificial incubation in the South, in high altitudes, and when the incubator room is dry. This may be done by sprinkling the eggs with warm water or by placing a wet sponge or pan of water under the egg tray.

During the hatching period carefully fill the lamp and trim the wick each day. It is best to trim the wick by scraping off the burnt portion rather than by cutting the wick. The lamp should not be filled entirely. After the lamp is filled it should be closely observed for a time to make sure that the flame does not get too high.

SPRING CONDITION OF HENS

Lack of Exercise and Too Much Feed of Dry Kind Often Cause of Constipation.

In the spring fowls often show up in constipated condition. It is usually caused by lack of exercise, green stuff, grit and too much feed of a dry kind. You notice it first on the soiled feathers, next the clogging of the vent. This immediately calls for a physic. One tablespoonful of castor oil or half-teaspoonful of epsom salts to each fowl, and the last may be continued in broken doses in food or water for several days after. Feed them boiled potatoes, all the cabbage and other green stuff at hand, and make them hunt for their grain. These constipated fowls are no good as breed ers until you get them toned up.

the chicks are naturally weak, not worth raising, and it is time, patience and money thrown away.

PLANT MORE CHERRY TREES

Good Reasons for Urging Increased Cultivation of Useful and Protty Bearers of Fruit.

Although in at least two states, Pennsylvania and Ohio, there are more than 1,000,000 cherry trees and nearly as many in several other states, the commercial interests are relatively small compared with several other fruits in which the number of trees is considerably less.

In the south the summers are too long and hot, as a rule, for cherries to do well, and they do their best at the higher altitudes.

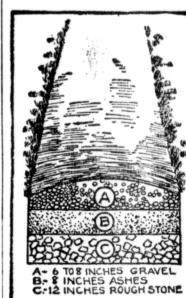

In their endurance of low temperatures sour cherries compare favorably with apples. Sweet cherries are less hardy than sour sorts. Their endurance of cold corresponds more nearly to that of the peach.

Cherries are sensitive to a poorly drained soil. Clay soils, extremely retentive of moisture, give the poorest results, and the lighter, better drained soils the best. Soils that dry out excessively are also unsatisfactory. Moderately productive soils give better results than those which represent either extreme in fertility. Cherries blossom comparatively early, the sweet sorts earlier in most cases than the sour varieties; therefore sites that are subject to spring frosts during the usual blossoming period should be avoided.

MAKES GOOD GRAVEL WALK

Directions for Building Pathway That Will Last for Years and Always Be Dry.

To make a good gravel walk first dig a deep trench the full width of the walk. Fill up the first, or bottom, 12 inches of the trench, with stones, including those found in digging it. On this have a layer of ashes 8 to 12 inches deep when well rolled. Finish off with about 6 inches of gravel. shaped so as to give a rounded surface, highest in the center.

This will soon pack down into a hard surface that will always be dry.

Many Factors in Tree Planting.

In places the trees along the roadside form screens so as to break up the long stretches of views and allow openings here and there which frame and make more attractive the roadside scenery. Again, certain varieties of trees are more suitable for highway planting than others, according to the use to which they will be put. The factor of planting for the protection afforded the pavement through shade during the hot summer months, thereby adding many years to its life, and the assistance given by the proper planting of shrubs and trees in keeping the drifting snow from the roadside during the winter season should be likewise considered.

Business and Residential Streets. Keeping business off residential streets means keeping it on business streets. Haphazard development hurts business property as much as it does residence property. The sporadic store invading quiet home streets not only demoralizes residential values; in decentralizing the shopping district it also disintegrates business values.

Viewed in every way the experience of New York has clearly demonstrated that no large city can afford to do without zoning .- American Architect.

Character and Careers.

Some one has said that character is greater than any career, and nothing that you will ever accomplish compares in importance to the making of yourself. To be noble, pure and strong, with courage for every misfortune, a helping hand for whoever needs it, and kindness for all, is worth more than to write one's name high in the list of those the world counts

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Headache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.— Mrs. Chas. Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Thedford's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty reg-ular until the liver acted well, and would soon be up and around ain. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit.

If your liver is not doing its duty, will suffer from such disagree able symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result.

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Thedford's, the original and genuine. E 79

The actual educational work will be goten under way early in July and will continue thru August and into September. It is planned to have a three days' tent meeting in and prevent the paper coming out each county. These "farm schools" will be in progress in three counties at the same time, and the programs will be rotated in such a way that it will be possible to use the same corps of instructors for all meetings In this way it is expected to conduct meetings in sixty counties before the end of summer. Following these cchools the committee hopes and expects to have one of the Eastern Research Bureaus to conductan exhaustive survey of various ccounties in the state and then to make a report on each county, which may be made the basis of a campaign of improvement.

The program and schedule of counties for these meetings is to be worked out from an office at the Board of Trade. The Glo Hea 'Tis beauty truly blent whose red and white, Nature's own sweet and cunning hand laid on,' Tho does not love the soft, healthy glow of a baby's skin? Too bad that often later on disease comes to mar its beauty. Most common to young and old are the diseases known as Eczema. Note that we say "diseases," for medical science says there are nearly twenty different forms of Eczema. And all of them irritating, itching, disfiguring. Modern medicine has discovered that most forms of Eczema are the result of digestive troubles, and that these must be relieved in effecting a Sufferers from Eczema should drink Devonia, the American Medicinal Mineral Water. Right here it is interesting to note that it was through euring an aggravated case of Eczema that the remedial properties of Devonia were first discovered. Since then Eczema sufferers by thousands have found relief through its use. Devonia is heavily laden with curative agents that put the system into right condition to bring about a cure of the disease. It is mildly laxative, but not a drastic cathartic. Moreover, it is corrective and reconstructive. It comes to you just as it flows from its natural source a thousand feet underground, neither fortified nor changed. So great is its medicinal value that a tablespoonful in a glass of water is all you usually need to take. As a quart bottle contains about sixty-four doses, Devonia is the cheapest of all medicinal waters, as it is Devonia is prescribed by physicians On sale at most drug stores. Eczema sufferers should write for our booklet, "The Glow of Health." It tells Take a you in simple terms about Eczema and Tablespoonful its treatment.
